DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 03/07/2007 has been entered.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 03/07/2007 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive because Applicant 's argument that Applicant insertion without replacement of any preexisting metadata is NOT supported in Applicant 's specification because Applicant's specification (page 11, lines 10-12) clearly discloses that "The user may set for each level and each media type an ignore or a higher level to replace the broadcast stream, thus allowing the user to customize the experience." As such, the Examiner maintains the rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 1-34, and 36 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter, which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention.

The Independent claims 1, 11, 20, 26 and 36 with added limitation "without replacement of any meta data that may exist in the first broadcast stream" is not described in the Applicant specification. It seems that Applicant's contradict himself because Applicant's specification (page 11, lines 10-12) clearly discloses that "The user may set for each level and each media type an ignore or a higher level to replace the broadcast stream, thus allowing the user to customize the experience." As such, Applicant's argument "without replacement of any meta data that may exist in the first broadcast stream" is NOT supported in Applicant's specification.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

1. Claims 1-5, 7, 9-15, 18-31, and 33-34 and 36 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being unpatentable by Reynolds et al. (US 2001/0037500).

Claim 1, Reynolds discloses a system (Fig. 1) comprising:

The receiver receiving a separate 2nd media (142, Fig. 2; §0030) having a 2nd priority indicator (§0037), the receiver permitting automatic insertion of the 2nd media or an indication of the 2nd media into an audio or visual presentation (i.e., program stream) of 1st broadcast stream (without replacement of any meta data that may exist in the first broadcast stream) based on a comparison of the 1st priority indicator and the 2nd priority indicator (§0037); the automatic insertion or the indication preserving content of the 1st broadcast stream (program stream not lost, merged with 2nd media and transmitted; §0018 and 0043).

Claim 2, Reynolds further discloses wherein the 1st and 2nd priority indicators comprise numbers (§0037);

Claim 3, Reynolds further discloses wherein the 2nd media and the 1st broadcast stream are the same media (they are both electrical signal, digital data, etc...).

Claim 4, Reynolds further discloses wherein the 2nd media and the 1st broadcast stream are different media (Channel TV data vs. TV program).

Claim 5, Reynolds further discloses wherein an event triggers the 2nd media insertion into the 1st broadcast stream (priority of local metadata higher than generic metadata, as discussed).

Claim 7, Reynolds inherently must have a Sync signal (time mark) within broadcast stream so the system able to synchronize the insertion of the 2nd media insertion with the broadcast stream (§0041 and 0043).

Claim 9, Reynolds further discloses wherein the 1st and 2nd priority indicators are assigned to the 2nd media by a user of the system (local affiliate operator or who ever sets the priorities is a “user” of the system).

Claim 10, Reynolds further discloses wherein the receiver is part of a TV system (see Fig. 1).

Claim 11 is analyzed with respect to claim 1.

Claim 12 is analyzed with respect to claim 2.

Claim 13 is analyzed with respect to claim 3.

Claim 14 is analyzed with respect to claim 4.

Claim 15 is analyzed with respect to claim 5.

Claim 18, Reynolds further discloses wherein the broadcaster may assign a plurality of additional priority indicators to different segments of the 1st broadcast stream based on a subdivision or geographic area, the additional plurality of priority indicators allowing broadcasters to sell advertising space for particular subdivision or geographic area (§0038 and 0028).

Claim 19 is analyzed with respect to claim 7.

Claim 26 is further analyzer with respect to claim 1 in which "a machine readable storage medium tangibly embodying a sequence of instructions executable by the machine to perform a method for inserting media into a broadcast stream" is inherently met by Reynolds because Reynolds shows a system with CPU and memory in which a software must exist in order to perform the function as described.

Claim 27 is analyzed with respect to claim 2.

Claim 28 is analyzed with respect to claim 3.

Claim 29 is analyzed with respect to claim 4.

Claim 30 is analyzed with respect to claim 5.

Claim 33 is analyzed with respect to claim 18.

Claim 34 is analyzed with respect to claim with claim 9.

Claim 36 is analyzed with respect to claim 1 in which the 1st broadcast stream and the 2nd media are both transmitted from a broadcaster.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 6 and 16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Reynolds et al. (US 2001/0037500).

Claim 6, Reynolds does not disclose wherein the event includes notification that an e-mail message has arrived.

Official Notice is taken that notification of an e-mail message to a user is notoriously well known in the art. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify Reynolds by including such e-mail notification so to notify user of incoming mail.

Claim 16 is analyzed with respect to claim 6.

3. Claims 8, 17 and 32 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Reynolds et al. (US 2001/0037500) in view of Bullock et al. (US 5070404).

Claim 8, Reynolds does not disclose using a pilot tone or watermark as priority indicators.

Bullock discloses the use of cue code wherein each cue code comprises four DTMF tones as Indicator (Col. 6, lines 43-Col. 7, lines 25). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify Reynolds with Bullock so to take the advantage of the uniqueness of each cue code for determining the presence of the stored data having an identifier corresponding to the cue signal and for providing an indication to the user of the presence of the stored data (Col. 2, lines 1-6).

Claim 17, limitation "the priority indicators are embedded into the broadcast stream using a pilot tone or watermark" is analyzed with respect to claim 8 and Bullock further discloses wherein the broadcaster may assign a plurality of priority indicators to different segments of a broadcast stream (Col. 6, lines 60-65+).

Claim 32, "the priority indicators are embedded into the broadcast stream using a pilot tone or watermark" is analyzed with respect to claim 8 and Bullock further discloses wherein the broadcaster may assign a plurality of additional priority indicators to different segments of a broadcast stream (Col. 6, lines 60-65+).
